

How to make Slurry (clay glue - used to join pieces of clay together)

You will need a plastic cup and a small piece of clay

Break off bean-sized lumps of clay

Put them in the pot

Fill the pot up about 1/3 with bits of clay, add a small amount of water, to just cover the clay

Use a fork to smush the clay up, pressing it against the side of the cup

Keep mixing to combine the clay with the water

It will get better over the next few days, but you can use it straight away.
